Reading for Pleasure Top Tips

by Jos Margerison, Senior Literacy Specialist

- Look at your Phonics provider's resources on Reading for Pleasure. What are they offering this term?
- If you have not already done so, sign up for Go All In, the National Year of Reading campaign. https:// www.goallin.org.uk/
- Ensure all classes (including Nursery and Years 5&6) send home at least one reading for pleasure book every week.
- The Reading Agency launch the Summer Reading Challenge "Read to the Beat" on June 20th. https://summerreadingchallenge.org.uk/
- Check with your local library: can they visit to promote the Summer Reading Challenge or could you visit this term?
- Think about transition for your book corners. Could classes take some of their favourites to their new book corner? Year 6 could leave some of theirs for the new year 6 cohort.
- Find out about your new class's reading habits and attitudes by completing a reading survey e.g. https://ourfp.org/2023/01/26/pupils-reading-surveys/ Use this information to curate books in your book corner that match their interests.
- Audit your class book corner book stock.
- Choose a quality story to share for transition day.
- Think about making books available outside during lunch time now the weather is nicer!
