WHY ATTEND?

Great writing begins long before pen meets paper. Explore how high-quality talk, rich vocabulary and carefully planned teaching develop articulate thinkers and confident writers. This event will help leaders and teachers build a coherent, whole-school approach to writing that progresses from Early Years through to Key Stage 3.

WHY IT MATTERS

Research consistently demonstrates that high-quality classroom talk improves vocabulary, reasoning and writing outcomes. Explicitly developing spoken language before writing enables pupils to communicate ideas more effectively and write with greater confidence.

YOU WILL EXPLORE:

- Developing writing through purposeful talk
- The progression from oral composition to independent writing
- Embedding shared and modelled writing
- Practical strategies to strengthen writing instruction
- Creating a coherent whole-school writing journey
