SEND AND INCLUSION: READING AMBITION FOR ALL

LED BY
ALICE SMITH
WEH Literacy Specialist

Every child deserves the opportunity to become a confident, successful reader. This evidence-informed programme explores how schools can develop inclusive reading provision that enables pupils with SEND to thrive through high expectations, adaptive teaching and effective classroom practice.

WHY ATTEND?

Supporting pupils with SEND begins with believing every child can succeed.
This programme strengthens your understanding of how reading develops and provides practical approaches to adapt teaching without lowering expectations. Explore how consistency, precision and inclusive practice can remove barriers and improve outcomes for all learners.

WHY IT MATTERS

Evidence shows that pupils with SEND make the strongest progress when they access the same high-quality curriculum, supported through adaptive teaching and carefully planned intervention. Inclusive practice benefits every learner, not just those with identified needs.

YOU WILL EXPLORE:

- Understanding how reading develops for pupils with SEND
- Adaptive teaching that maintains ambition for every learner
- Effective intervention and responsive classroom practice
- Reducing cognitive load to support reading success
- Building inclusive reading provision across the school

THE IMPACT

Inclusive classrooms • Higher expectations • Confident practitioners • Improved reading outcomes
